

Bachelor of Science in International Sustainable Tourism Degree Programme In Spain & Switzerland

Introducing the groundbreaking Bachelor's programme in Sustainable Tourism Management, an innovative degree crafted in collaboration with the UN Tourism - the first of its kind.

This visionary program, offered by the Lucerne University of Applied Sciences and Arts, provides students with a unique opportunity to earn a Swiss Degree while immersing themselves in intercultural experiences, particularly in Spain and beyond.

Learn more

What is UN Tourism's Role in the Programme

Different Locations

Diverse Career Prospects for Graduates!

More than 95% of HSLU students quickly find employment after they graduate: 70% go straight into executive level position.

UN Tourism's Ambassadors for Sustainable Tourism

Quick Facts:

- The first-degree program to be developed and executed in cooperation with the UN Tourism Organization;
- Swiss Degree while being able to gain intercultural experience in Spain and anywhere in the world;
- Strong practical orientation through an internship, guest lectures, and projects within an extended tourism network;
 - Global networking events;
- The remote semester offers the flexibility many students desire nowadays;
 - Individual approach: Only 50 students per intake

Do not miss the opportunity to get 50% scholarship

Attend online info - session